Mary's birth lies at the confluence of the two Testaments – bringing to an end the stage of expectation and the promises, and inaugurating the era of grace and salvation in Jesus Christ.

The birth of Mary is ordained in particular toward her mission as Mother of the Savior. Her existence is indissolubly connected with that of Christ: it partakes of a unique plan of predestination and grace. God's mysterious plan regarding the Incarnation of the Word embraces also the Virgin who is His Mother. In this way, the Birth of Mary, as that her Divine Child, is inserted at the very heart of the History of Salvation.

“Pray for us ,Oh Holy Mother of God, that we maybe made worthy of the Promises of Christ.” Amen

Isaiah 35:4-7
Psalm 146:7-10
James 2:1-5
Mark 7:31-37

The incident in today's Gospel is recorded only by Mark. The key line is what the crowd says at the end: "He has done all things well." In the Greek, this echoes the creation story, recalling that God saw all the things He had done and declared them good (see Genesis 1:31).

The crowd recognizes that Jesus is doing what the prophet had foretold. But Mark wants us to see something far greater—that, to use the words from today's First Reading: "Here is your God."

Notice how personal and physical the drama is in the Gospel. Our focus is drawn to a hand, a finger, ears, a tongue, spitting. In Jesus, Mark shows us, God has truly come in the flesh.

What He has done is to make all things new, a new creation (see Revelation 21:1-5). As Isaiah promised, He has made the living waters of Baptism flow in the desert of the world. He has set captives free from their sins, as we sing in today's Psalm. He has come that rich and poor might dine together in the Eucharistic feast, as James tells us in today's Epistle.

He has done for each of us what He did for that deaf mute. He has opened our ears to hear the Word of God and loosed our tongues that we might sing praises to Him.

Let us then give thanks to our glorious Lord Jesus Christ in the Eucharist. Let us say with Isaiah, "Here is our God, He comes to save us." Let us be rich in faith, that we might inherit the kingdom promised to those who love Him.

Prayers for our Parishioners.

Scott Hahn reflexiona sobre el XXIII Domingo del Tiempo Ordinario www.stpaulcenter.com

El incidente del Evangelio de hoy lo registra únicamente Marcos. La frase clave es lo que dice la multitud al final: "Todo lo ha hecho bien". En griego, esto hace eco de la historia de la creación, recordando que Dios vio todas las cosas que había hecho y las declaró buenas (véase Génesis 1:31).

La multitud reconoce que Jesús está haciendo lo que el profeta había predicho. Pero Marcos quiere que veamos algo mucho mayor: "Aquí está vuestro Dios", para usar las palabras de la primera lectura de hoy.

Observe cuán personal y físico es el drama en el Evangelio. Nuestra atención se centra en una mano, un dedo, orejas, una lengua, saliva. En Jesús, nos muestra Marcos, Dios realmente ha venido en carne.

Lo que ha hecho es hacer nuevas todas las cosas, una nueva creación (véase Apocalipsis 21:1-5). Como prometió Isaías, ha hecho fluir las aguas vivas del Bautismo en el desierto del mundo. Él ha liberado a los cautivos de sus pecados, como cantamos en el Salmo de hoy. Él ha venido para que ricos y pobres puedan cenar juntos en el banquete eucarístico, como nos dice Santiago en la Epístola de hoy.

Él ha hecho por cada uno de nosotros lo que hizo por aquel sordomudo. Ha abierto nuestros oídos para escuchar la Palabra de Dios y ha desatado nuestras lenguas para que podamos cantarle alabanzas.

Demos gracias, pues, a nuestro glorioso Señor Jesucristo en la Eucaristía. Digamos con Isaías: "Aquí está nuestro Dios, que viene a salvarnos". Seamos ricos en la fe, para que podamos heredar el reino prometido a quienes lo aman.
